

GOD? PROVE IT

Dear Friend:

I recently picked up one of my books just to glance at it. The title is: "How Can I Know? Answers To Life's 7 Most Important Questions". The very first question is: "How can I know there is a God?". All other answers to life's questions are connected to that question.

I rarely run into someone who is an agnostic or atheist. Of the two, there is a much smaller count of true atheist. Several weeks ago, I had the rare opportunity of talking with an atheist person, she called herself an atheist, but I detected some agnostic beliefs as well. Typical of atheists she believes that there is no such thing as God, he is a figment of our own imagination and made-up in people's head to try to make sense of life.

If you ever run into an atheist or agnostic, here are a few things you can challenge them with pertaining to the existence of God. First evidence: The existence of the universe and by this I am not talking about creation theory. The very existence of the universe demands that someone had to create. If there was no creator, then there can be no universe. Do the math: No One X Nothing = Everything. This math does not scientifically or mathematically make sense. If there is no creator, and there was nothing then how did everything come into existence? You can't get everything from nothing or no one. Second evidence: God intuitive. You can find related scripture in Romans 1:18-20 and Ecclesiastes 3:11. Basically the scriptures say that God's existence is written on the hearts of people. Those who completely reject this have chosen to ignore even the possibility of this truth. Third evidence: Moral "law". In every culture, every tribe, everywhere in the world anthropologist have discovered that there is some form of moral law among all people groups. Moral law can vary from group to group, but no group has been discovered where rape for the sake of just raping and murder for the sake of just murdering is acceptable.

You believe God exists; I believe God exists. If you know or ever meet someone who believes God does not exist choose one of the above points of evidence and maybe, just maybe they will move a little closer to believing in God.

In Christ's Love,
Pastor Mike
